

HYS Index is designed to give dental team members a guide to how the overall UK dental market is developing. By working with our industry partners we have extracted unit sales growth figures for the two most popular products used in the dental practice, gloves and local anaesthetic. The Index will be published every quarter as Industry statistics are released and should provide a guide to how dentistry is developing.

Summary

